

The right and duty of parents to give education is essential, since it is connected with the transmission of human life; it is original and primary with regard to the educational role of others. . . . it is irreplaceable and inalienable, and therefore incapable of being entirely delegated to others or usurped by others.

Familiaris Consortio, Pope John Paul II

Parents have a most grave duty and enjoy the primary right of educating to the very best of their ability, their children physically, socially, and culturally and morally and religiously as well.

1983 Code of Canon Law, Canon 1136

9th Annual Catholic Homeschool Conference & Curriculum Fair

“Educating Catholic Children for Life in the 21st Century”

Saturday, April 5, 2003

8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Holy Name of Jesus Church

6190 Allentown Blvd.

(Route 22)

Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Sponsored by the statewide network of Catholic Homeschoolers of Pennsylvania

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Who can attend this event? Anyone can attend — veteran or new Catholic homeschooling parent, those discerning homeschooling, those encouraging and supporting Catholic home education. Parents typically attend this event from throughout PA and 6-7 other states.

Do I have to pay if I only want to look at books? Yes. Unfortunately this is necessary to meet expenses such as facility rental, insurance, etc.

Will I be able to take my curriculum home? Because of the vast array of vendors invited, families who organize their own curriculum could find virtually all of their materials at this one event AND save on shipping charges. Even the full-service curriculum providers will have large quantities of individual books available. NOTE: Due to pre-testing requirements and space limitations in transport, families choosing to use the full-service curriculum providers will not be able to take home their entire curriculum. However, discussion with them and reviewing their materials will be most invaluable, and supplemental items may be purchased at this time.

Will these vendors be attending the other curriculum fairs in the state? Catholic vendors do not attend non-Catholic/Protestant sponsored events.

Can we trust the choices of materials available to choose from? You can feel confident that we are very careful to select vendors who are providing materials and/or lesson plans that are loyal to the Holy Father and Catholic Church teaching. Catholic parents who attended this event in the past have expressed their appreciation that the 60+ vendors invited assist them in giving their children a thoroughly Catholic faith and education. However, some vendors carry other popular items such as Saxon math, phonics programs, and many other supplemental materials as well.

Will there be materials for my special needs child? Vendors are requested to bring an adequate supply of materials to meet these needs. Some vendors may cater to special needs students more than others. Veteran homeschoolers also will be available throughout the day to answer your questions.

Child/Student Attendance Policy: Nursing infants are welcome and attend free of charge. Most parents find it easier to concentrate on the speakers and vendors knowing that someone familiar is watching their children at home. Also, due to the manpower and amount of responsibility involved, childcare is not provided.

However, any students who desire to assist their parents in choosing their curriculum or meeting with the college representatives are welcome to attend. Parents who are unable to make other arrangements MUST accompany their children AT ALL TIMES. Children are expected NOT to disturb the conferences and will not be permitted to touch materials for sale.
